PRIVATE CURATION

THE PHILOSOPHY

A different kind of stillness.

True luxury is no longer defined by thread counts or branded amenities. It is defined by rarity, privacy, and the absolute absence of noise.

We do not book the famous resorts. We do not arrange itineraries that everyone else has experienced.

We curate the hidden, the silent, and the transformational.

A

Ahmet Can
Yesildag

FOUNDER & PRINCIPAL CURATOR

"I look for places that make you forget you have a phone — and a life you are trying to escape from."

THE CURATOR

Thirty years inside the world's finest hotels. Now I open doors that don't appear on any map.

Three decades running luxury hotels on five continents — as General Manager for Hilton, Radisson, Marriott, and Titanic Hotels. Long enough inside the machinery of the world's most celebrated hospitality brands to understand, with absolute clarity, what they cannot offer: genuine rarity, true privacy, and the kind of stillness that changes a person.

At Radisson, the property I directed was recognised as Best Performance Hotel in the Eastern Europe Region. I have always been on the floor — not in the boardroom. I know what a great pillow feels like, what a flawless service recovery sounds like, and what it means when a chef actually cares.

Cornell. Boğaziçi. Swissôtel Manhattan to the highlands of Azerbaijan. Orophile was founded because I could no longer find an advisor willing to apply that standard on behalf of their clients. So I became one.

HOW WE WORK

Three phases. Absolute discretion.

From first conversation to your return home — every microscopic detail.

I.

The Dialogue

We do not offer pre-packaged itineraries. Every journey begins with a private conversation to understand your energetic state, your aesthetic preferences, and the specific frequency of stillness you require.

II.

The Curation

Drawing from our private archives, we propose a selection of properties. Often, these are entirely private estates or highly restricted sanctuaries that cannot be found on public booking channels.

III.

The Execution

We handle every detail from the moment you leave your home. Private aviation, silent transfers, bespoke dietary protocols communicated directly to the chef — everything handled with absolute discretion.

OROPHILE

CLIENT WHISPERS

What is said, very quietly, afterwards.

"For the first time in ten years, my mind actually stopped. I have stayed at every five-star property on earth, but I have never experienced this level of profound isolation."

— TECH FOUNDER, SAN FRANCISCO

"OWJ understood exactly what we needed before we did. The ryokan they secured was a revelation of restraint and beauty."

— PRIVATE EQUITY PARTNER, LONDON

Restraint is the ultimate luxury.

Three principles that govern every decision we make on your behalf.

0 1

Curation

We say no to 99% of properties. What remains is exceptional — and held to the standard of three decades inside the world's finest hotels.

0 2

Privacy

We specialise in buyouts, secluded villas, and places where nobody will find you. Discretion is not a feature; it is the foundation.

0 3

Access

Doors open for our clients that remain locked to the public. Properties that do not appear on any booking channel — and never will.

OROPHILE

THE INVITATION

We take on a limited number of clients per year.

Please share a brief overview of what you are seeking. The first conversation is private, unhurried, and without obligation.
